

Constellation West Promotes Former U.S. Cyber Command Legislative Liaison, Kelly Goggin to Senior Director of Business Development

WASHINGTON and OMAHA, Neb. March 17, 2016 — Constellation West, a leading provider of mission-critical technology solutions for the U.S. government and one of the fastest-growing service-disabled veteran-owned, women-owned, small disadvantaged businesses in the country, announced today it has promoted former U.S. Cyber Command Legislative Liaison, Kelly Goggin to senior director of business development.

“Kelly is well deserving of this promotion,” said Lisa Wolford, president and CEO of Constellation West. “She has adapted well as she transitioned from an impressive military career and demonstrates the characteristics sought by our toughest customers, to create feasible solutions and deliver results.”

In her new role as senior director of business development, Goggin will provide strategic business development support and program management execution for ongoing contracts for customers in the federal sector and other markets as needed.

A retired colonel with over 26 years of U.S. Air Force and operational military experience, Goggin was most recently the senior director of legislative liaison, U.S. Cyber Command, where she served as the primary liaison between members of congress and the senior staff and commander of CYBERCOM. Previously, she held positions as senior director of congressional inquiries for the Air Force at the Pentagon, program manager of the mobility/logistics joint requirements for the Air Force at the Pentagon, commander of the 319th Operations Support Squadron, as well as other senior posts in the Air Force.

Goggin has a master’s in military science from the Air Command and Staff College, a master’s in aeronautical science from Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University and a bachelor’s in physics from Central Washington University.
